

The Initial Site Visit

This visit gives us the opportunity to see your property and talk with you about your ideas, needs, and priorities. We charge a design consultation fee (starting at $100 depending on where your site is located) which covers our travel expenses and time. This fee will be credited back to you if the project progresses to the construction phase. During the initial visit we will explain our design process and share our portfolio of recent landscape design and construction work with the associated costs of those projects.
